The Daily Standard.

Our Third Volume.

The VICTORIA DAILY STANDARD is a year old to-day. With this issue we commence our Third Volume. Contrary to all the predictions of those few who were opposed to this journal, and in spite of having to pay, under protest, in six months, two thousand dollars more for telegrams than what we bargained for, still the STANDARD has lived, paid its bills, has proved to be a commercial success, has become firmly established, and is to-day the leading and most influential journal in the colony. When it started, the report was studiously circulated that it could only last two months. Then the time was extended to four months, next to six, lastly, to ten, at which time, if these false prophets were to be believed, it would be sure to fail. The STANDARD, however, is still alive, and with its young and robust constitution unimpaired, will live for many a long year to come. No journal in the colony has a larger DAILY circulation, and in the country on this Island, as well as on the Mainland, our WEEKLY circulation far exceeds any other journal. What is more, old subscribers are renewed, and new subscribers continue to send in their names, and with every mail from the Mainland or Island comes the welcome intelligence—"THE STANDARD IS THE PEOPLE'S PAPER." From Hope to Kootenay, everywhere the STANDARD is read to the almost entire exclusion of any other paper. The same is the case in the Kamloops country. But from Yale to Cariboo, along that long line of road, no journal is a favorite except the STANDARD. Our efforts to publish a thoroughly independent journal, liberal in politics, devoted to no interests but the people's, have been appreciated everywhere throughout the country by the most substantial support. In this city, too, the DAILY STANDARD has exceeded all other journals in the amount of public patronage that it has received. It has always had, and still continues to have, more advertising than any other paper published in this city. In the Job Work Department, our printers are always employed. The success that has attended the publication of the DAILY and WEEKLY STANDARD warrants us in making still greater efforts to retain the confidence and support of our patrons. The DAILY STANDARD is the largest paper published in the Colony. The WEEKLY, too, is larger than any other local weekly paper. But we hope before our next anniversary in 1872 to present our readers with a still larger DAILY and WEEKLY than we do now. The brightening prospects of the country warrant us in making preparations for a large accession to our population. At any rate, our patrons will find the STANDARD the same liberal, independent, outspoken journal in the future as in the past, expressing popular opinion without fear, favor, or affection. As a newspaper, we intend to supply our readers as usual with the latest Foreign and Domestic Intelligence. But as an advertising medium, we offer the DAILY STANDARD as the best in this city, as our circulation is the largest and our prices the most reasonable. Our WEEKLY edition offers advantages to advertisers afforded by no other journal in the Colony, as it is read everywhere. During the past year, we have made considerable additions to our Job Work Department, and are prepared to execute jobs of all kinds in the best style of "the art preservative of all arts," and at such reasonable rates as will enable those who may require Job-Printing to get it done. Our prices for Advertising and Job-Work are always moderate. We never charge an exorbitant price simply because we may have an opportunity to do so. In conclusion, we are constrained to thank our patrons for their generous support during the past year, and hope for its continuance in the future; for it has been mainly through their liberal patronage that the DAILY and WEEKLY STANDARD have become the leading journals of British Columbia.

Political.

The country has finished its work of registering voters. The registered voters are consequently the real people of British Columbia.

The representatives whom they may elect will make the new Government. Whomsoever a majority of the representatives support will be leaders of the Government. Whomsoever a majority may oppose will be the Opposition. Now, if the electors wish to have a government led by the same class of men who have been a drag on the progress of the country for a dozen years, we say let them set to work and elect them. If they don't want such people to conduct our affairs, let them set to work to keep them out. But whether they want them or do not want them "the loves and fishes"—the hope of getting fat offices will bring them to the front. This is just as certain as that there will be an election next fall. Now whether the electors reside on the Island or on the Mainland, in town or country, in Kootenay, Comox, or Cariboo, Victoria or Omineca, the attempt will be made all over the country to return members to the local legislature, who will promise anything and be ready to sacrifice everything to serve their own interests.

Like Dr. Carroll in Cariboo, they will be great Liberals, but in the Legislature will become denouncers of Liberal principles as often as it may suit their interests. Now, just about as good a means to determine whether a candidate is an office-seeker or a public-spirited, patriotic citizen who has come forward at the call of his fellow citizens to serve their interests in the Legislative Assembly, will be to ask them what public men they will set with it elected. If they promise to act with those public men who have been the consistent advocates of liberal measures, it may be taken as a tolerably fair criterion that they are genuine Liberals, and deserve to be elected. But if they name men with whom they propose to act who, through their whole public career have ever been allied with the non-progressive element of the country, it is very certain that such candidates wish to get elected to serve their own interests first, and their constituents last. Beware of such men. Let the electors, therefore, recollect that we want Liberals, not office-seekers and Obstructives. Let them recollect that it is their duty to select and elect them. Let them remember that Responsible Government is party government, and to carry out that "form of administration" successfully, they must elect a majority of Liberals. Let them not forget that those who have constantly advocated Responsible Government are the best persons to entrust with carrying it out. Let the Liberals everywhere unite, compromise their differences, and present an united ticket to the Obstructives in the coming elections. The country has to be governed by party, so let party discipline commence in each constituency.
